Denise Brigham's "The Jazz Session" released for digital download

Chicago, Il. – Recording artist and actress Denise Brigham has just released the two song mini-album "The Jazz Session" for digital download through iTunes and 7digital online stores. AmazonMP3, Napster and others should be available shortly.

This two song release was recorded in May at the Chicago Recording Company with a quartet of some of Chicago's finest musicians. Jeremy Kahn from Wicked was on piano, Eric Schneider, former member of Count Basie's band was on sax, Chuck Christiansen who toured with Steve Lawrence and Eydie Gorme was on drums, and Nick Schneider who has played with many top bands was on bass. The songs were arranged and produced by Carey Deadman from Jersey Boys. The session was engineered by Chris Steinmetz who has done albums for many famous musicians from Rod Stewart to B.B. King and Madonna to Koko Taylor.

These two songs will eventually be included on the full album that is in process now. The remainder of the album will be done featuring both big band and orchestra arrangements and is scheduled for release in early October. "The arrangements Carey has written are brilliant" raved Denise after a recent big band session at CRC. "I can't wait to get the album finished and start performing these in our Fall concerts!"

Denise, a student of renowned vocal coach Randy Buescher, has been a popular area performer with her show "The Music of Our Lives" and with her new collaboration with Carey will now be doing concerts starting in November.
